

Denies U. S. Is Sending Men to Middle East

WASHINGTON (UP) — The State Department today categorically denied that the United States is speeding more American troops into the troubled Middle East to keep the peace.

A spokesman said there is absolutely no basis to reports that the 2nd U. S. Armored division has been ordered from Germany to the Middle East or that negotiations are underway with Greece to station 1,000 U. S. Marines on the Mediterranean island of Crete.

At the same time the Army issued this statement: "The Department of the Army said today there is no truth to the report that the Second Armored Division, now stationed in Europe has been ordered or alerted for movement to the Middle East."

An authoritative military source said in fact that "no serious" thought is being given at the present time to dispatch and additional U. S. forces to the Mediterranean area.

Cancer Control Month Act of Congress

By an Act of Congress April is Cancer Control Month. This year more than 1,300,000 volunteer workers will lead the drive to raise funds $26,000,000 for the American Cancer Society's programs of research, education and service.

Last year about 80,000 Americans died of cancer because proper treatment was begun too late. These lives could have been saved if an early diagnosis and treatment had been given.

The American Cancer Society says that this year Cancer will strike one in every four persons. This is why regular check-ups with your doctor is urged for your protection against this dreaded disease.

The seven danger signals of Cancer are: Any sore that does not heal; A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere; Unusual bleeding or discharge; Any change in a wart or mole; Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing; Persistent hoarseness or cough; Any change in bowel habits. None of these symptoms necessarily mean you have Cancer, but any one of them should send you to your doctor. Remember these Danger Signals, and fight Cancer with a Check-Up and a Check.

Senior Play Cast Active in School

The members of the cast of the Senior Play, "Curtain Going Up," to be presented at Hope High School on Friday, April 27, are quite active in school activities. Billie Franks, who plays the part of Miss Irene Burgess, an attractive school teacher, is editor of the Hope Hi-Lights, and a member of the Bobcat staff. She was a class beauty this year and Campus Queen during her junior year. Among the clubs to which Billie belongs are N. H. S., Library Club, English Club, F. H. A., F. T. A., Melody Maids, Quill and Scroll, and Rainbow Girls.

Cast in the role of Mr. Norman Carter, the school principal, is John Barr. Winner of the Junior Play Award last year, John is president of the senior class and a member of the Chemistry Club, Key Club, Student Council, and English Club. He played football for the Bobcats, attended Boys' State, served as a Junior Rotarian and was Master of Ceremonies of the Junior-Senior Prom.

The part of Kyle Roberts, a glamorous movie star, is played by Judy Watkins. Judy is a member of the Library Club, F. T. A., Chemistry Club, F. H. A., English Club, F. N. A., Rainbow Girls, and Melody Maids. She was elected Miss Hope High in the Senior Who's Who. Serving as a D. A. R. page for the past three years, Judy was a homecoming maid this year and Campus Queen during her sophomore year.

Playing the part of Tony Peterson, the school janitor, is Roy Mullins. Roy was co-captain of the Bobkittens and on the track team.

Arkansans Vote for Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both Arkansas senators and all six House members voted yesterday for the controversial farm bill which has a legislative branch passed.

Man Sentenced in Prostitution Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A federal court jury today convicted a 34-year-old used car salesman on a charge of bringing a woman here from Texas for purposes of prostitution and debauchery.

Federal Judge Thomas C. Trimble sentenced Kirby Johnson to three years imprisonment, but permitted him to remain free pending an appeal.

Johnson contended that he had sent Mrs. Nellie Mae Bonin of Beaumont, Tex., money to come here only to "clean up" a North Little Rock hotel he had leased. He denied knowing the manner in which Mrs. Bonin had operated the hotel.

$10,000 Taken in Texas Robbery

BLOOMSBURG, Tex. (AP) — A pair of robbers cleaned out the safe and two cash drawers of all the bills in sight yesterday at the First State Bank, then escaped toward Louisiana with their $10,000 loot.

It was the third bank robbery in six days in this vicinity.

Holdup men got $1,600 in Bossier City, La., near Shreveport Thursday. A stickup man Saturday got $21,500 at Gilmer, Tex., where the vault still was being used in a bank building being torn down.

One of the Bloomberg holdup men kicked an employee, Raymond Puckett, who was lying on the floor by order of the robbers, and cashier E. D. Simmons was slapped.

Simmons said there was some money in the vault the intruders missed.

No customers were in the bank. It was only five minutes until the 3 p. m. closing time.

Revely Adcock, standing on a street corner of this little town of 500 on the Arkansas-Texas line, saw the men climb without hurry into their gray and blue automobile and drive away. They headed down State Highway 77 toward Shreveport.

The men were between 35 and 40 and wore bright sport shirts. One was a short blond, the other a tall, dark man.

Roadblocks were thrown up but caught no one. The FBI entered the case.

Judgment for $360 Allowed by Court Jury

A Hempstead Circuit Court jury today awarded judgment of $360 to Bud Collier for damages in connection with a truck-train accident here last year.

The Collier-owned truck driven by E. A. Carmen was hit by a Missouri Pacific train on a Division Street spur line crossing. Collier sued for $700 damages to his truck.

In action yesterday Lonnie Ellis, Negro, was fined $50 and five days in jail on an assault charge. The charge was reduced from assault with intent to kill.

This afternoon another wreck case was scheduled to go to trial. The case is styled James Lattier vs. Hope Transfer Co.

Real Price of Parenthood Is Constant Fear Anyway — So Take Children on Vacation

ABOARD SS NASSAU (AP) — What the proper age to take a child on a cruise? Many parents ask this question. Homebound bound after a glorious two week vacation tour of the Bahamas I am a bit inclined to give this answer:

The proper age to take a child on a cruise is when it is 65 years old — and suffering from tallon arches. Then you can be reasonably sure of where it is.

Not that my wife, Frances, and I haven't been exactly unaware of the location of our young daughter, Tracy Ann.

We have always known exactly where she was. She has always been in one of three places:

1. Under the feet of the waiters in the dining room.
2. Fifteen steps ahead of our outstretched arms — and running in the wrong direction.
3. Trying to ride an upper rail piggy-back, with a rolling dock beneath one leg and maybe two miles of rolling ocean beneath the

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold reported to the Security Council today that both Israel and Egypt have agreed to refrain from hostile acts against each other except in self-defense.

The pledges were made, however, before the air clash in which an Egyptian jetplane was reported shot down by Israeli aircraft. Hammarskjold, now in Cairo on a special Middle East peace mission, made his report when he transmitted to the Security Council a series of communications he had with the leaders of Israel and Egypt.

In response to a special appeal from Hammarskjold both Israel Premier David Ben-Gurion and Egyptian Premier Gamel Abdel Nasser promised in writing to comply unconditionally with provisions in the Israeli-Egyptian armistice agreement barring hostile and warlike acts.

Although both reserved the right to act in self-defense, Hammarskjold told them in separate letters that he did not understand the reservations in any way to detract from their unconditional undertaking to observe the armistice terms.

The Hammarskjold communications were made public as Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban plunged into a series of private talks with leading Security Council members.

JERUSALEM (AP) — Warplanes of Egypt and Israel lashed today and Israel claimed first blood.

An Israeli army spokesman announced two Israeli fighters intercepted four Egyptian jets in a noon flight northward over Israeli territory and shot down one — a British-made Vampire jet — on Israel's soil.

"The other three planes escaped," he said. "Our planes returned safely to base."

This announcement of air-to-air combat in the current Arab-Israeli crisis developed on the heels of claims by Israel of five new attacks by Arab commando raiders around last night, in one of which three Israeli school children and a teacher were killed at prayer.

Sheep Shearing Methods to Be Shown

Farmers with a possible interest in sheep production are invited to the shearing on the farms of Vernon McMurtrey of Route 1, Patmos, and Howard Millam of Route 1, Hope.

These farmers have very good flocks of sheep and are interested in the sheep industry expanding in our area says County Agent Oliver L. Adams. These two sheep producers expect to shear early the week of April 16.

Mr. McMurtrey's home is the second house on the left going east at Middlebrooks Station about seven and one-half miles south of Hope on 29 road. Mr. Millam is just north of the old CCC Camp site about seven miles south on 29 road.

Potluck Supper for VFW, Auxiliary

Friday night at 7:30 the VFW and Auxiliary will hold a benefit potluck supper with funds going to the sheep drive. Members are asked to bring two of the following: vegetables, salad and dessert. Meat will be furnished by the Post, and door prizes will be given.

Louisianians Ask Funds for Red River

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big delegation from Shreveport, La., asks Congress today to speed a project which would provide navigation along the Red River across Louisiana.

Texas and Arkansas also were represented in the group appearing before a Senate subcommittee.

While the group came to support generally requests for funds for various projects on the Red River in Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, the principal aim of the Shreveport delegation was approval of at least $300,000 in planning money for the Overton-Red River canal.

This project, authorized by Congress in 1946 at an estimated cost of about 65 million dollars, would include a 9-foot navigation channel upstream to the vicinity of Shreveport.

Such a navigation channel project, proponents contend, would permit a big industrial growth for Shreveport and other northern Louisiana cities, as well as provide an outlet for iron ore from Texas.

Opinion, however, isn't unanimous.

Rep. George Long (D-La.), through whose district the canal would pass, said his view is that a new survey of the whole thing should be made. He said, "I'm not taking a position for it or against it but I want to know the answers to a lot of questions."

"After all," he said, "Congress authorized this project 10 years ago and in that time a lot of things have changed."

Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La.), for whose uncle, the late Sen. John Overton (D-La.), the waterway was named — is a strong supporter of the project. His suggestion is that Congress vote $400,000 for planning work on it this year so that construction funds can be voted next year.

With the group will be the Red River Basin Association, headed by L. R. Matthais, executive vice president.

The group was to repeat testimony given recently to a House appropriations subcommittee in support of funds for various Red River projects.

High Tides in Virginia Brings Flood

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The highest tides in two decades churned up a quickie flood in the Hampton Roads coastal area last night, disrupting communications and transportation and temporarily isolating two communities.

The waters lapped into business sections of Norfolk and Newport News, forced suspension of Ferry Service linking the two cities and caused the closing of a main bridge across the James River.

The floods struck hardest at the York County community of Poquoson on Chesapeake Bay and the Norfolk-side village of Willoughby. Each was isolated for a while and Army amphibious vehicles were called in to re-establish connections.

The tides were spawned by an Atlantic storm that brought winds up to 70 miles an hour. The tides reached a peak of four to five feet above normal before midnight and began receding.

The weather bureau said the worst of the northeast was over, but a new threat was posed by high tides due today. The bureau said they were expected to be less than two feet above normal.

Despite a weather bureau forecast the storm would veer out to sea, Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut ordered a standby alert in the event of heavy rains.

A late forecast indicated chances the storm would hit Connecticut has lessened, but tides were expected to run two to three feet above normal.

President Fires Back at Charges by Truman

By MERRIMAN SMITH
AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP) — The White House fired back at former President Truman today for his critical remarks about President Eisenhower.

Mr. Truman in a speech yesterday accused Mr. Eisenhower of "betrayal" of the American farmers in his attitude on current farm legislation.

Through his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, Mr. Eisenhower, noticeable nettled by Mr. Truman's strong remarks yesterday, said "I don't believe that Mr. Truman by his own standards can recognize accomplishment when he sees it."

Other developments at the vacation White House here were these:

1. Mr. Eisenhower will make a major political address from Washington on the evening of April 17, speaking before a gathering of GOP state chairmen and finance committee leaders. The President will speak at the Sheraton Park hotel.

2. The President sent to Congress a supplemental appropriations request for fiscal 1957 of $19,600,000 for the Small Business Administration and the Defense Department.

3. The chief executive planned to confer with Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson before acting on the farm bill which passed the House and Senate yesterday in a farm counter to the President's ideas on the subject.

4. Maj. John S. Eisenhower, the President's son, was scheduled to arrive here at midday and play golf with his father this afternoon.

By The Associated Press
The farm issue blazed hotter today after former President Truman denounced President Eisenhower's agricultural policies as "political betrayal" and the Democratic-controlled Congress passed a farm bill containing a provision Eisenhower strongly opposes.

The moment, at least, the sharpened farm controversy, which promises to figure importantly in the coming presidential campaign — overshadowed the contest between Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Stevenson, given "new heart and courage" by his strong showing in the Illinois primary, went vote-hunting in the Miami, Fla., area. Kefauver open a three-day expedition of his own in Florida where the two are pitted in the state's May 29 primary.

Ignoring vote warnings by administration farm leaders in Congress, the House, followed by the Senate, passed the bill.

A city-owned truck driven by Riley Vickers and an auto driven by Mrs. Vera Davis collided yesterday at Avenue E and North Hervey Streets, City Police reported. Officers said nobody was hurt but the auto was badly damaged.

Society Woman Stabbed to Death in Ohio

CINCINNATI, O., (UP) — Police said today they were without a clue in the stabbing murder of a society matron in her home in one of the city's finest residential sections.

"This is going to be a tough one," Police Chief Stanley Schriber said after hours of searching the area failed to turn up any evidence in the murder of Mrs. Audrey Pugh, 34.

The chief said Mrs. Pugh apparently put up a fierce struggle with an intruder who entered her home, stabbed her 14 times, and left her partly clad body in the entrance hall. She wore a short nightgown and a robe.

One of the score of detectives who examined the Pugh's rambling ranch-type house, remarked the case was the most baffling he had heard of since Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard reported the murder of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, Mrs. Sheppard was beaten to death in her home near Cleveland on July 1, 1936. Sheppard later was sentenced to life in prison for the murder.

Mrs. Pugh was found dead by her husband, William Worthington Pugh, 34, when he returned home from work Wednesday. He is president of the A. H. Pugh Printing Co.

The Pughs, a quiet couple, moved in the city's highest social circles. Their home on Hill and Hollow Lane is in the area of such estates as the late Nicholas Longworth and other wealthy society leaders of Cincinnati.

Pugh told police his wife had been in good spirits and the last time he saw her was when he left for work earlier in the day. The Pughs, married two years, have no children.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The body of an attractive 34-year-old society matron, clad only in a robe and pajama tops, was found yesterday in the doorway of her home in the fashionable Hyde Park district. She had been stabbed to death.

The victim was Mrs. Audrey Pugh, the wife of William W. Pugh, 34, a printing company executive. He found the body when he came home from his office.

If police had any clues to the slayer they were keeping a tight silence. Police Chief Stanley F. Schriber had a police guard at the ranch house home during the night to protect any possible evidence.

Dr. Herbert P. Lyle, Hamilton County coroner, said details of an autopsy would be withheld because they might give an idea of the course of the investigation.

Thousands to Greet Arrival of Miss Kelly

By EDDY GILMOR

MONT CARLO (AP) — America's film star Grace Kelly greeted Monaco's Prince Rainier III with a big smile and "darling" today as they staged a romantic reunion on the blue Mediterranean.

Grace and the man she will marry next week were reunited on Rainier's Yacht Deo Juvante II just off shore from his tiny Riviera principality. The 32-year-old bridegroom-to-be called his gleaming white, 138-foot craft out to tie up beside the liner Constitution, which had brought his bride and a shipload of relatives, friends and reporters from America.

The only immediate kissing was a light one Rainier quickly placed on the future princess' slender hand.

Five minutes later, as the yacht steamed toward shore and the couple stood on the bridge, the prince wrapped his arms around the fiancée. Holding her big white hat with one hand, Grace snuggled up and put an arm around Rainier's shoulders.

Then radiantly holding hands they sailed into port to a tumultuous welcome.

No Wedge Intended, Bulgarian Declares

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Bulganin says the trip he and Communist party boss Khrushchev are making to Britain is not an attempt to drive a wedge between Britain and the United States.

Bulganin said in an interview that the chief aim of their 10-day visit, which begins Wednesday, is to discuss increased trade and broader cooperation.

The premier's comments were made in an interview with Irving R. Levine, Moscow correspondent of the National Broadcasting Co. and the London Times.

Sources Indicate President Won't Take Defeat

By DAYTON MOORE

WASHINGTON (UP) — An informed source said today that President Eisenhower has made a firm decision to veto the Democratic-sponsored farm bill.

This source told the United Press that Mr. Eisenhower will not be influenced in the matter by political considerations. Democratic farm leaders doubted that Mr. Eisenhower would veto the measure in an election year. But they said that whether he does or not, the farm bill has given their party a sure-fire issue for this year's campaign.

"Whether President Eisenhower signs the bill or whether he vetoes it, we will sweep the Midwest in November," Democratic House Whip Carl Albert (Okla.) said.

The President "will lose politically either way," he added. "The farmers will know that the Democrats were responsible for the higher price supports."

The measure easily cleared both houses of Congress yesterday. It spurs Republican warnings of a veto. The bill would restore the rigid price supports and increase farm income about $1 billion this year.

The House first voted 271-181 for it. Then in a night session, the senate stamped final congressional approval on it with a 60-35 vote.

The bill would restore price supports at 90 per cent of parity on corn, cotton, peanuts, wheat and domestically consumed rice this year. It also would increase price supports of feed grains and dairy products.

About the only provision in the legislation Mr. Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Charles Benson approved of was the administration's sponsored $1.2 billion soil bank.

Both Parties Beam About Illinois Vote

By STAN CARTER

CHICAGO (AP) — For the record, both Democrats and Republicans are beaming about the results of the Illinois primary election.

Just among themselves, there are some puzzled frowns. Just what did it mean? And who won?

These are the figures: President Eisenhower drew 753,267 votes from Republicans, a nearly complete unofficial returns from Tuesday's preference test. Democrats gave Adlai Stevenson 703,291 votes.

Stevenson's tally was in 104 larger precincts than were counted for Eisenhower. This because a handful of the state's 9,311 precincts decline to give out unofficial counts. Some precincts say unofficial returns for only one party.

On the Republican ballot there were 32,885 votes for Sen. William F. Knowland of California, who is backing Eisenhower for a second term, and 9,099 for Lar Daly of Chicago, a frequent office seeker. Stevenson was unopposed on the Democratic ballot but there were scattered write-ins for Sen. Estes Kefauver and Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio. They won't be fully counted until the canvass.

It appeared, though, that the favored write-in total would be about 4 per cent of the total vote. Supporters of the Republican senator, who did not campaign in Illinois, had hoped for a tenth per cent.

Junior Iris Garden Club Meeting

The Junior Iris Garden Club met at Oglesby School in the Auditorium in March. Flower arrangements were made in dirndl cups, with broken pieces of shrubs forming the frogs to hold the flowers. A tall flower about 1 1/2 times as long as the bowl is wide, was placed in the middle of the background of the arrangement, and is known as the "spike." Every flower arrangement should have a spike, and a flower on either side just shorter than the spike should vary slightly in length. In the front of the background place a round flower, called the "Head" such as a rose, carnation, etc., afterward filling in the other flowers to make up the desired size of the bouquet.

Mrs. E. A. McDowell arranged the program which was presented by Mrs. Lahroy Spates. Mrs. Godwin was a visitor.

Childs Stores Celebrating 56th Year

Childs Food Stores, Inc., operators of 26 Piggly Wiggly Super Markets in the Ark-La-Tex area, is celebrating the founding of the firm 56 years ago by the late C. C. Childs.

A projected plan of expansion of both the retail and warehousing operations has been released by the firm's president, Alvin Childs, that will mean the addition of six big new Super Markets during the next 18 months.

Alvin Childs is the grandson of C. C. Childs, who founded the business in 1900 in a 20 x 30 foot store in Jacksonville. C. C. Childs sold this business to his sons, C. A. and O. W. Childs in 1913 and the brothers opened a store in Rusk in 1929. Two years later, Alvin Childs and Oakley Childs, son of O. W. Childs, became partners in the company, and in 1939 Crawford Godfrey, now vice-president and secretary joined the firm. In 1943, C. A. Childs, Alvin Childs and Crawford Godfrey bought out the interests of O. W. and Oakley Childs.

From that time the company continued to progress and grow, and when Alvin Childs succeeded his father as president of the company in 1950, a total of 13 retail food stores were owned and operated by the company, and a big modern warehouse, the first unit of the big warehouse encompassing today a total of 100,000 square feet of floor space, was in operation.

Following the end of World War II and its priorities and rationing, the company entered a new era of growth and expansion. Since 1950 the chain which operated only in the East Texas area, has moved into the states of Arkansas and Louisiana with the most modern distinctive food stores in the Southwest.

It has also expanded its warehousing facilities three times to meet the increasing volume of the rapidly expanding retail food organization.

Since 1950 Childs has opened new Super Markets in eight cities in East Texas and completely remodeled two other stores in Texas cities. In Louisiana, two stores were opened in Monroe and one decorated throughout with spring flowers.

After the luncheon, Mrs. Henry Haynes presided over the business meeting, at which time further plans were made to attend the State Convention the latter part of this month. A letter from the State President was read giving details of convention plans.

The membership transfer of Mrs. Marie Holt from the Harrison Chapter was read.

DOROTHY DIX

Proposal Should Eliminate Rival Going Steady Has Pitfalls Be Cautious in Picking Companion

Dear Dorothy Dix: Verna and I have been going together five years. I love her, and she loves me — or at least, I think she does. In the course of business (she's a teller in a bank) she recently became quite friendly with a handsome guy who runs a restaurant. On the evenings I couldn't take her out, she began going to the restaurant and now she's a regular customer. The man brings her home, they talk for a while and seem interested in each other.

She laughs the whole thing off when I speak to her about it, but I cannot see how she can be interested in both of us. The man is my greatest rival; how can I eliminate him?

Dear Danny: As a mystery story devotee, I could think of several interesting solutions but none would be within the law. So, since you can't eliminate the guy, why not take lessons from him?

Apparently he's made more progress with Verna in a few months than you have in five years. He's not out to establish the long-distance courtship record, as you are. Every girl likes to think there's a wedding in her future. Stop stalling, make Verna's dream a reality. That'll finish the rival.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am going with a soldier who is stationed at the other end of the country. I haven't seen him in a year, but we write each other regularly. During the time he's been gone all I've done for amusement is go to the movies alone. Do you think if I went skating or dancing with another guy, just on friendly terms. Don would get sore? I'm 17.

Dear Ellie: You've been a very loyal little miss; I hope your soldier is equally true. I can't answer for his reaction to your going out each in Alexandria, Lake Charles and Shreveport. Childs entered the Arkansas market in March, 1954, with the purchase of six Piggly Wiggly Stores formerly known as Sunkel Piggly Wiggly stores. Four of the stores were located in Texarkana, and one each are in Hope and DeQueen, Arkansas.

On August 4, 1955, the Childs organization merged with the Kroger Company of Cincinnati, Ohio. Although that firm became the major stockholder in Childs Food Stores, Inc., Childs will continue to operate as an independent organization.

occasionally with someone else. You'll have to ask him. Why not discontinue the "steady" status so you can get around a bit more?

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband died recently and now I live alone in a big house. I'd like very much to find a congenial lady to share it with me. Can you help me find one?

Dear F. M.: You can't be too careful about people you take into your home; only the best of personal references should do. Ask your pastor if he knows of someone who would be interested in your proposition.

Dear Miss Dix: The mother of a friend is a wonderful dressmaker and has offered to make my wedding dress. I know she isn't very well and feel it would be an imposition to accept her offer. How can I tell her so gracefully? ANGIE

Dear Angie: Gosh, I know a dozen girls who would jump at this offer! If you have no reason to doubt the woman's sincerity, please don't turn her down.

Some folks find it harder to accept favors graciously than to bestow them. They don't realize that, in cheating others out of the joy of giving or doing a favor, they are actually being selfish. Best of luck on your wedding day and thereafter.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My best friend and I like two girls and have frequently double-dated with them. My friend has a new convertible. Do you think they like us or go out so they can brag about the car?

BOB AND ROB
Dear Bob and Rob: What good is a convertible if not and to serve as date bait? Don't worry now about which comes first, you or the car. Be so charming that soon the girls will go out with you or the car. Be so charming that soon the girls will go out with you in any old jalopy.

PUNCTUATION CORRECTED
TALLAHASSEE, Fla., (UP) — The state supreme court yesterday corrected a punctuation error in a pharmacy law.

The court changed a period to a comma.
It ruled "A candidate for examination by the state board of pharmacy must have both a pharmacy degree, and a year's experience."

Bond Issue Act to Be Tested

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — A test of validity of a 1955 act which authorizes bond issues to aid in Arkansas industrial development headed for the Arkansas Supreme Court today.

Chancellor Guy E. Williams yesterday ruled that: 1. The Helena-West Helena Industrial Development Corp. has authority to issue $800,000 in bonds to facilitate financing of a plant for Mohawk Rubber Co. in the area.

2. The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission headed by Winthrop Rockefeller, has power to authorize the issue, if it must do under the 1955 act.

3. The state Board of Finance of which Gov. Orval Faubus is chairman, has authority to purchase part of the bond issue, if it may do under the 1955 act.

Charles E. and Ollie Carolyn Halbert, the plaintiffs in a friendly suit to determine whether the act is constitutional, appealed Williams' ruling to the Supreme Court.

UN Envoy and Nasser Have Conference

By WILTON WYNN
CAIRO, Egypt, (AP)—Hammoud Abdel Nasser of Egypt for 15 minutes today in his first move to restore peace between Arab and his Arab neighbors. The U. N. Secretary-General began his talks with the strong Arab dispatch reported an easing of tensions in the Palestine area. The dispatch reported only two Arab attacks last night by roving Arab suicide squads which had struck in a series of raids and sabotage missions on the three previous nights.

Asked by reporters about published statements that he had presented a six-point compromise proposal to Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi shortly after

Memphis Edges Little Rock

By VERNON BULER Associated Press Sports Writer Precocious rookies have grabbed almost every starring role with the infant Southern Association season only five games old.

While most of the veterans shivered with the skippy crowds in the unseasonable chill last night, a group of torrid recruits made brilliant debuts as Birmingham walloped Atlanta 10-5. Nashville made it two straight over Chattanooga 4-0. Memphis edged Little Rock 3-2 and New Orleans nipped Mobile 1-0.

The games at Mobile, Birmingham and Memphis were season openers postponed from Tuesday by rain and cold. Mobile had the largest turnout, 4,184. Memphis and Little Rock drew only 3,587 fans, most of them in overcoats and Birmingham and Atlanta attracted 3,349, smallest opening crowd at Birmingham in a decade.

Thought For The Day I had a friendly smile: I gave that smile away; The milkman and the postman seemed glad of it each day.

I took it to the shop; I had it in the street; I gave it without thinking to all I chanced to meet. I gave my smile away, as thoughtless as could be; And every time I gave it, my smile came back to me. —Selected.

Pitchers Star in Major Loop Training Games

By ED WILKS Of The Associated Press

After a hitters' year in which there were only two 20-game winners among major league pitchers in 1955, there are signs this spring that the hurlers are back from exile.

Detroit and Milwaukee spotlighted the evidence as six pitchers breezed through 14 scoreless innings before the managers called his quits at Terre Haute, Ind., yesterday. There were 16 hits—all singles—but nary a runner got past second base.

Virgil Trucks, Dick Marlowe and Pete Workman checked the free-swinging Braves on six hits. The Tigers got 10 from Lew Burdette, Red Murff and Humberto Robinson.

At Washington the Senators' Camilo Pascual and Pete Ramos duelled the Brooklyn Dodgers' Carl Erskine and Don Newcombe on even terms for eight innings before Pete Runnels lashed one of Newk's fast ones for an inside-the-park home run in the ninth to edge the world champs 2-1.

Newcombe, who paired with Philadelphia's Robin Roberts as the only 20-game winners in the majors last season gave up only one other hit in his 3-1-3 innings and fanned the side in order in the eighth. The pitching foursome struck out 15 despite 48-degree temperatures.

Elsewhere, Johnny Antonelli, bidding to return to the 20-wins group after a 14-16 disappointment in '55, struck out eight while scattering five hits and walking three in his innings as the New York Giants whacked the Cleveland Indians 5-1. Bob Lennon and Gail Harris made homers off Earl Wynn and Mike Garcia.

Baltimore's Orioles beat the Chicago Cubs 5-4, shutting out the Bruins until the ninth when Monte Irvin opened with a homer and Jim King came through with a three-run clout. Jim Wilson, the Birds' starter and winner, and Dave Pope homered off loser Russ Meyer.

The St. Louis Cardinals provided the big hitting of the day with Wally Moon, Stan Musial and Hank Sauer tagging Jack Harshman for homers to overhaul a three-run Chicago lead and beat the White Sox 5-3.

Dale Long drove in three runs, two on a homer off Art Ditmar, as Pittsburgh beat Kansas City 5-3. Bob Friend gave the A's a scattered seven hits and struck out Gus Zernial four times.

The New York Yankees and Cincinnati hooked up in a shabby, eight-error scuffle won by the Redlegs 7-5 with the benefit of five unearned runs on five Yankee errors—three by rookie shortstop Jerry Lumpe. Bill Skowron and Al Silvera homered for New York.

Russellville Lumber Firm Hit by Fire RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. — Fire swept through a portion of Ray Lee Lumber Co.'s hardwood flooring plant here last night causing damage estimated by owner Standard Lee at $60,000.

An early estimate placed damage at $100,000, but this was revised downward late by Lee.

A building containing four dry kilns and 80,000 feet of unfinished oak lumber was destroyed.

Firemen kept the flames from reaching other plant units and other nearby buildings, including a cotton warehouse.

Firemen said they thought a short circuit in electrical wiring may have caused the fire.

Briggs-$1.50; and third place to Mrs. Cleo Johnson-$1.00. The first place on brown eggs went to Leo J. Smith-$1.00; second place to Joe M. Odom-$1.50; and third place went to Arthur Parker - $1.00.

The other 21 exhibitors were given twenty-five cents each for having brought eggs to exhibit.

First place on homemade soap went to Mrs. Janie Wilson - $1.00; second place to Mrs. Verdie Walker - $0.75; third place went to Mrs. Rhoda Jones - $0.50, and three additional awards of twenty-five cents each were made.

Homemade Lard: First place - Mrs. Thelma Wilson - $1.50; second place to Mrs. Janie Wilson - $1.00; third place to Mrs. Queen Esther Johnson - $0.75. Five additional awards of twenty-five cents each were made.

Canned Chicken: First place - Mrs. Letha Lawson, $2.50; second place - Mrs. Verdie Walker, $1.00. Canned Ribs: First place - Mrs. Verdie Walker, $2.50; second place - Mrs. Janie Wilson, $1.75; third place - Mrs. Mae Willie James, $1.00. Canned Sausage: First place - Mrs. Gertrude Scott, $2.00; second place - Mrs. Janie Wilson, $1.50; and third place - Mrs. Thelma Wilson, $1.00.

Mrs. Martha Armstrong was awarded $0.50 for exhibiting a quart of chitterlings.

There were some 45 farmers, homemakers, and 4-H'ers who attended the Meat and Egg Show, and the interest of all was very high. We all are looking forward to a larger and better meat and egg show.

Again, we want to thank the merchants of Hope and Elvins whose contributions made this affair a success.

Jockey Can't Decide Which Horse to Ride

BY ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Arcaro in a quandary. But it is a pleasant problem that confronts the nation's best known jockey.

He must decide sometime before May 5 whether to ride Nashua, America's glamor horse, in the $50,000 added Grey Lag Handicap at Jamaica or Head Man in the $125,000 Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs. Both will be run in the same day.

A victory aboard Nashua would give him the distinction of being astride the world's leading money winning horse on the day he passed Citation's earnings of $1,065,760. A triumph with C. V. Whitney's Head Man would be Eddie's sixth Kentucky Derby success. No other jockey has more than three.

"I would rather win the Derby," said Arcaro. "There are not too many shots left for me at it." Eddie is 40 years old and has been riding for a quarter century.

"Actually I have not made up my mind," Arcaro added. First I want to talk to Mr. Fitz (Trainer James Fitzsimmons of Nashua). Earlier, Mr. Fitz said "Arcaro is Nashua's jockey and I expect him to ride my horse in the Gr-Lag." But the 81-year-old trainer added "It is a matter that Eddie will have to decide himself."

Syl Velth, trainer of Head Man, said he was going ahead on the assumption that Eddie will be on his horse, who is expected to be one-third of the powerful Whitney entry which also includes Career Boy and Born Mighty.

Arcaro himself is high on Head Man even after seeing Career Boy come from last place to win the mile and a sixteenth of the Gotham Stakes by 3 lengths at Jamaica yesterday.

"My horse never has been over a distance of ground," said Eddie, "but at a shorter distance he looked as good to me as Career Boy."

Head Man came from off the pace to beat Nail, Mrs. A. A. Bigelow's Derby hopeful, by a neck in the 6 furlongs of the Experimental Handicap 10 days ago. Yesterday, over the longer route, Nail was third as Career Boy put on his great stretch drive under Eric Guerin.

Mr. Clift Is Back to Make a New Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 12 (AP)—The screen's least active young star, Montgomery Clift, is back in Hollywood making a movie.

Clift, still pencil-ill at 35, has returned to town for MGM's Civil War epic, "Raintree County." He is not one to push his acting career. In his nine years in films this is only his ninth movie.

His last one here was the great "From Here to Eternity." Many actors would have followed up such a classic with other films. Not Clift. He absented himself from Hollywood for two years.

It's not because Clift hasn't had offers. He and Marlon Brando are the most-sought of the young actors. Clift's agent estimates that the actor has turned down four

BEER PAYS $1,145,442 FOR INSURANCE In Arkansas

Beer retailers and wholesalers in Arkansas pay $1,145,442 in insurance premiums annually. This represents many millions of dollars worth of protection for their families and associates, as well as contributions to the livelihood of the State's insurance industry. The legal beer industry, thus, is doing its share to improve the economy in Arkansas through helping support an important segment of our professional enterprise.

have so pampered Tracy that I'm afraid she'll be half way through college before I can unspoil her.

Right now I'm an ex-iron parent with the authority of a rubber band.

But the biggest blow has been to my athletic pride. Tracy is in the climbing stage, and every stairway is a challenge.

I didn't anticipate any real difficulty on that score, however. I came from a family of climbers—the swivel chair in only three generations. I have also climbed the dome of St. Peter's in Rome, the Eiffel Tower in Paris, and the Great Pyramid outside Cairo.

But these feats were as nothing compared with trying to keep pace with Tracy as she goat-leaped up one flight of stairs and down the other. She's the lass who put the rope in antelope.

After the first two days I started staying up to eat the midnight buffet so I'd have strength for the next morning's gallop.

Do I sound like an old crank?

After all, the fresh air and exercise have caused Tracy to bloom like a lilac bush. And in the interludes between the times I have been frantically keeping her from falling overboard, we have had some unforgettable moments of companionship together.

Once, cuddling against my knee at the rail, she looked out at the sea and asked gravely, "What makes it so bumpy?"

"The wind does, I told her."

Tracy looked up at me dubiously, thought a while, then said: "Well, I guess I'll have to take Mommy. You're teasing me."

What is the right age to take a child on a cruise?

The real answer I guess is—any age. The price of parenthood is constant fear. But wherever you go, you will worry less about a child if you take it with you than if you leave it behind. And you'll be a lot less lonesome!

pressed a hunt for the raiders and public clamor for retaliations mounted.

Egypt, too, registered a complaint. A military spokesman in Egyptian-held Gaza said Israeli forces opened automatic fire today on an outpost in the Beit Hanoun area northeast of Gaza City and an Egyptian soldier was wounded. He said the outpost did not return the fire.

The newly established Egyptian Middle East News Agency reported last night that 300 Arab commandos had returned to their base in Gaza after staging a series of 50 raids. Official confirmation was lacking in Cairo, which has disclaimed responsibility for the attacks, but an Egyptian Embassy spokesman in Damascus said the group had headed back after making its retaliations for the Israeli shelling last Thursday of the Gaza Strip, in which 64 Arabs were killed and 102 wounded.

In Cairo, U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld held a three hour meeting with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi, his fourth with Egyptian officials since arriving there Tuesday on his Middle East peace mission. Then another shift in his plans was reported.

An informed source said Hammarskjöld will remain in Cairo until Saturday, but spend the rest to today and tomorrow in conferences with his own staff.

Landy's Row Apparently Settled

By HAL WOOD
SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A row over AAU procedure, which for a time threatened to prevent Australian miller John Landy's participation in two California track meets, has apparently been settled.

It had been announced that Landy, who had cracked the four-minute barrier more often than any other man, would run at a dual meet between UCLA and USC in the Los Angeles Coliseum May 5 and at the West Coast relays in Fresno May 12.

But yesterday American AAU officials, headed by Executive Secretary Dan Ferris in New York, announced that the invitation to Landy was "highly irregular" because it had not been made through the proper channels.

"If Landy came to the United States to run without approval for our AAU and that of his homeland," said Ferris, "he would jeopardize his amateur standing. As of this moment, we have received no request from anyone for permission for Landy to run in this country."

However, Harold Berliner, veteran AAU official and vice chairman of the U. S. Men's Track and Field committee, said that no rules had been broken.

He said officials of the Central California AAU and the Southern Pacific AAU have mailed applications to Ferris for Landy to run in their meets.

Ferris said that since the formal applications were en route to his office, he was "sure it can be arranged."

Australia's amateur athletic body said that it had received no request regarding Landy's visit, but that if Ferris asked permission for Landy to compete in the United States the request would be granted.

Wes Santee, the Kansas miller who was suspended by the AAU over expenses, told reporters in Birmingham, Ala., yesterday that "Landy is a friend of mine and the world's greatest miler and we should be more than willing to offer our hospitality."

Santee added he would "like very much" to run against the Aussie at one of the two California meets, but that he did not know if arrangements could be made.

President Fires

Senate, yesterday approved the Eisenhower bill and sent it to Eisenhower. The measure would provide the soil bank the administration sought. But it also would restore high, rigid price supports on this year's crops of wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts—a move opposed by Eisenhower. He has been critical of other sections of the bill, too.

In Augusta, Ga., where Eisenhower is vacationing, press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen the President "still does not think the bill meets the test of a good bill."

Truman cut loose at Eisenhower—calling him a "do-nothing President"—during a speech at a Democratic fund-raising dinner last night in Des Moines, Iowa.

"Gen. Eisenhower has personally been doing all he could to keep Congress from raising the support prices farmers get," Truman declared.

"This is one of the most amazing records of political betrayal I have ever seen in all my years of public life."

Truman said he doesn't know "what Ike is going to do" with the farm bill. But, he suggested, Eisenhower "may well decide that it's the better part of valor to sign this bill in an effort to get re-elected."

Politicians and political analysts still were trying to assess the significance of the Illinois primary Tuesday in which Eisenhower outpolled Stevenson by about 20,000 votes on the basis of returns from all but a few precincts. The latest tabulations showed Eisenhower had 723,267 votes and Stevenson 703,291.

BY MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower will kick off his reelection campaign with an address to 800 Republican party leaders at a Washington dinner next Tuesday evening.

The President's vacation headquarters announced this today as White House press secretary James C. Hagerty hit back at former President Truman's charge that Eisenhower had been a "do-nothing president."

Truman said further in a Des Moines speech last night that the President has compiled "one of the most amazing records of political betrayal" on farm matters that he Truman ever has seen.

"I don't believe that Mr. Truman, by his own standards, can recognize accomplishment when he sees it," Hagerty told newsmen in response to a request for comment.

Truman's criticism and the White House rejoinder came as Eisenhower pondered whether to sign or veto an omnibus farm bill on which Congress completed action last night. The President has let it be known he doesn't think it is a good bill, but Hagerty declined again today to speculate about the possibility of a veto.

The press secretary said Eisenhower's political address at a Washington hotel next Tuesday evening will be made in response to an invitation by Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The President will speak to party state chairmen and vice chairmen, national committee members of Congress, party finance leaders, and chairmen of "Salute to Eisenhower" rallies which were held throughout the country last Jan. 20.

"This is a political meeting," Hagerty said with a smile in replying to a question whether Eisenhower's talk would be political.

Weekend to Be Less Favorable

By United Press
Fair skies and rising temperatures in Arkansas today were expected to give way to less favorable weather near the weekend.

The forecast said Friday would be partly cloudy, and Saturday partly cloudy and cool. Highs this afternoon were expected to be in the 70's in all sections, except in the upper 60's in the northwest portion. Lows tonight were expected to be mainly in the 40's and 50's.

Cole Won't Let Attack Stop Concerts

By BERNARD GAVZER

CHICAGO (AP)—Negro singer Nat King Cole, attacked by some white men while performing in Alabama, today said "It will do a lot of good for the cause of integration."

"I was a guinea pig for some hoodlums who thought they could hurt me and frighten me and that way keep other Negro entertainers from the South," Cole said.

"But what they did has backfired on them because those thousands of white people in the audience could see how terrible it is for an innocent man to be subjected to such a barbaric treatment."

Cole, one of the nation's most popular vocalists, was singing before a white audience of 4,000 in Birmingham's Municipal auditorium Tuesday night when a group of white men charged on the stage. Cole was hit and fell against a piano stool. He flew to Chicago where a doctor ordered a short rest to recuperate from minor injuries to his back, right arm and left leg.

The 37-year-old Alabama-born singer said "Those men who attacked me were trying to start a riot. I don't think there was anything personal—that is, that they were against me as Nat Cole—but I do think that it was meant to be a demonstration against integration."

"When you think about it," Cole said, "there was integration as far as having a mixed group perform on stage. Some people are against that. Well, all the other people on stage with me—Ted Heath and his orchestra and the Four Freshmen and June Christy—are all white."

Asked whether he would continue performing before segregated audiences in the South, Cole said:

"Sure I will. I'm not a politician."

figure or some controversial person. I'm just an entertainer. It's my job to perform for people. I owe to my Negro fans as well as my white fans to perform for them. If I stop, because of some state law, I'm deserting the people who are important to me. In my way, I may be helping to bring harmonious relations between people through my music. As for challenging segregation, it's foolish to think that a performer like me can go into a Southern city and demand that the audiences be integrated. The Supreme Court is having a hard time integrating schools, so what chance do I have to integrate audiences?"

House Ready for Touchy Farm Issue

BY B. L. LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic and Republican House leaders slipped their party reins tightly today on new farm legislation.

Neither side was making out-lying victory claims.

On the basis of past voting, Republican leaders appeared to face an uphill fight in efforts to mold the big farm bill more closely to the Eisenhower administration pattern.

Their task was to win back some GOP members who strayed on a similar test last year and woo back the Democrats enough votes to offset their numerical majority.

Called up for decision, after debate limited to two hours, was a Senate-House compromise bill which would scrap for this year the flexible farm price supports strongly advocated by President Eisenhower. It would restore rigid supports at levels higher than those now in effect.

In addition, the bill would boost supports on dairy products, provide two-price systems on wheat and rice, expand acreage for corn production, provide alternate systems of figuring price supports, and authorize a $1,200,000,000 soil bank to pay farmers for taking surplus cropland out of production.

The soil bank is the only major provision in the bill which was sought by the administration.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has urged the catch-all measure unacceptable to GOP House leader Martin of Massachusetts said yesterday. "I'd think the President would veto the bill as it now stands."

GOP strategy was to send the bill back to the Senate-House conference for another try at drafting a measure more acceptable to the administration.

A number of key Democrats have said the administration will have to accept the current bill or get nothing.

ADLAI'S TUIP

EVANSTON, Ill. (UP) — Adlai Stevenson took no chances at a reception in heavily Republican Evanston yesterday.

"I suspect a lot of people here are masquerading as Republicans," the Democrats presidential hopeful said. "In view of this, I want you to know that I for one believe in the redemption of sin."

LOST: 260 POUNDS—PLUS—Losing 260 pounds—on a rigid diet of one hard-boiled egg daily for a year—proved very costly, albeit beneficial, to Mrs. Lee Carter of Houston, Tex. An heirloom diamond ring, worth $200, slipped off her thinned finger while she was selling doughnuts at a pastry shop and has not been found. At left she's shown in a size 52 dress when she weighed 400 pounds a year ago. At right, in a size 16 dress, Mrs. Carter weighs only 140 pounds.

THE STORY: Soon after Alice Hazard finds an envelope in the desk of her late husband on which a name "Miss Lash" was written, her son Malcolm introduces her to Cristina Lash. Her first fears that her husband was involved in a scandal, change to fears for her son after Cristina says she never met John Lash before his death as a result of an accident.

CHAPTER IV

From a window Alice watched them wander toward the tennis court in the sunshine — the body so slender and immature, the woman so little and study and sure of her own attractions. Alice turned from the window, feeling almost ill, and saw something white on the floor.

A handkerchief. It must have fallen from Cristina's pocket when she made that brisk gesture with her raquet.

Alice picked it up. The handkerchief was coarse cotton, machine-embroidered with small red and green flowers. As she held it she became aware of a faint odor, heady and tantalizing. Cristina's scent. She has had some personal contact with that green envelope recently.

Alice put the handkerchief in her pocket. From the open window she could hear the thock, thock of tennis balls. They'd be occupied there for at least an hour.

She didn't want me to go to the cottage. She didn't want me to meet her father. This is my chance. Now.

The cottage stood on the other side of a main road, steeped in sunshine, bowered in vines. A gravel path brought Alice to the front door. There was no answer when she rang the bell — no sound at all, but bees humming around fragrant white roses that grew on a trellis above the doorway.

After a moment, she took another path that led to the rear of the house. There was a back door and French windows opening on a flagstone terrace that overlooked a lawn circled by flower beds in early summer glory, set against a background of pine trees. On the terrace on old man sat in a wheel chair. A hat was pulled down over his eyes, a steamer rug was wrapped around his legs and he wore an overcoat.

He seemed inert as a plant in didn't look at her. One cheek was lean and flat; the other, oddly bloated, drawing the mouth out of shape on one side.

With an effort Alice spoke. "Mr. Lash?"

An almost imperceptible nod. "I really must beg your pardon for rushing in like this but . . . I am Malcolm Hazard's mother."

There was no sign of recognition in the dull, incurious eyes. "I would like to talk to about about my son and your daughter."

The twisted lips parted. "Cristina . . ." It was a muffled whisper. The lips quivered, as if he were trying to say more, but the words did not come.

Alice tried again. "Can't you speak more clearly?"

One finger plucked at the rug across his knees. He forced out another word: "Stroke."

"Oh . . ." Alice blamed herself for not realizing his condition the moment she saw him. The glazed eyes, the crooked mouth, the stiff, swollen look on one side of his face — this was an old man dying by inches, one side of his brain already gone.

"I don't want to tire you," Alice hesitated.

"My son seems greatly interested in your daughter. If only you could answer me with a word or a gesture, there are certain questions I should like to ask you. Did you or your daughter know my husband, John Hazard?"

It took Lash several moments to mold his lips to one word: "No."

"John had some knowledge of her," insisted Alice. "He died a week ago. Today, in a locked drawer of his desk, I found an envelope. On the outside he had written: 'Papers Pertaining to Miss Lash.' When I opened the envelope, it was empty. I can't help wondering what there was about your daughter that led my husband to keep a file concerning her. Was she ever involved in any political matter, here or in Europe?"

The eyes, framed in discolored sockets, were fixed on her in mute frustration. There could be no doubt that he wanted to speak. The misshapen lips twisted again, but no words came.

Suddenly Alice opened the Italian basket she used for a handbag in summer. She took out her address book and a little gold pencil.

"Can you write? Please try. My husband was in government service, you know. I have a feeling that there was something political he knew about your daughter."

She caught herself. He mustn't think her interest was limited to his daughter. Somehow the pill must be sugar-coated.

Perhaps shock treatment would work. She leaned over him "Was

Ike Has No Plan to Settle Middle East

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the Eisenhower administration has a plan for preventing Middle Eastern war, it hasn't been stated. Nor, if war begins between Israelis and Arabs, is it clear whether this government will try to stop it with armed forces or a debate in the United Nations.

This lack of clarity about U. S. policy may discourage the Israelis and Arabs from big fighting. Or it may have the opposite effect.

A careful reading of the White House statement issued this week after a conference between President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles shows this country is not saying precisely what it will do. The key sentences said:

"The United States, in accordance with its responsibilities under the charter of the United Nations, will observe its commitments within constitutional means to oppose any aggression."

"The United States is likewise determined to support and assist any nation which might be subjected to such aggression. The United States is confident that other nations will act similarly in the cause of peace."

Those two paragraphs could mean any number of things: that Eisenhower, with congressional approval, would send armed forces into the Middle East to stop a war; or send one side or the other supplies; or ask both sides for a cease-fire; or ask the U.N. for united military action.

If it just meant getting into a debate in the U. N., a quick war might be over before the debate was.

Dulles called in congressional leaders yesterday for a briefing. It's possible, although officials discount the idea now, the Eisenhower may ask Congress to do what it did for him in 1955 when Formosa was threatened by the Red Chinese; authorize him to use armed force as he saw fit to stop an aggressor.

Whether that did it or not, the Red Chinese quieted down. A similar congressional authorization in the Middle East might not have the same result. The situation here is not identical.

In 1950 the United States, Britain, and France agreed on the subject of Israeli and Arabs: "The three governments, should they find that any of these states was preparing to violate frontiers of armistice lines, would, consistently with their obligations as members of the U. N., immediately take action, both within and outside the U. N., to prevent such violations."

That agreement, made under the Truman administration, has never been repudiated. But that doesn't mean Eisenhower will think the agreement is practical now.

The agreement didn't talk of armed force in so many words. It said "action" would be taken. Action can take many forms. The change of pace from the classic picture is different from 1950 when this country was far ahead of Russia in atomic development and the Russians were not involved in the Middle East.

So perhaps this country may not wish to carry out the 1950 agreement. Britain and France have their hands full in Cyprus and in North Africa.

What neither the United States, it something subversive?"

Now his eyes looked at hers. The desire for communication was naked as it is sometimes in the eyes of a petted animal. Again the lips moved. Slowly, painfully, with every sign of immense effort he forced out four words: "She's . . . not . . . my . . . daughter."

"Mr. Lash!" Alice looked up and saw that a nurse had come to one of the French windows. A stout, middle-aged woman in a crackling starched uniform. She hurried across the flagstones to the wheel chair.

The old man closed his eyes. The nurse felt his pulse. "You must leave at once . . . unless you want to kill him."

Many Local Laws Still on State Books

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Maybe the representative from Johnson County lived at Cabin Creek and was irritated when he found that the night train from Little Rock didn't stop at his home town.

So what did he do?

He had a law passed in the Arkansas Legislature requiring that all night passenger trains through Cabin Creek stop on request of any passenger who wanted off or of any prospective passenger who wanted on.

That was in 1911. It's been a long time now since any trains have stopped at Cabin Creek. Even Cabin Creek is no more. Its rustic picturesque name changed to Lamar.

But in 1911 law is still on the books. So are lots of other laws which seem quaint now; back in the days when the Legislature had the constitutional authority to adopt special and local acts.

These old laws are indexed in a section of the Arkansas Statutes as "special and local laws not specifically repealed."

In 1923, the Legislature passed a law which authorized a certain man to "practice medicine and surgery in Conway, Pope and Van Buren Counties." We don't know what the licensee's qualifications were. The same year at least two other men were licensed by the Legislature as veterinarians—one for Pike County and one for Hempstead County. And a pharmacist was licensed in Mississippi County.

The Legislature incorporated not colleges and religious organizations but in 1860, for example, the Arkadelphia Hook and Ladder Co., and in 1876 the Arkansas Horse Insurance Co.

Many of the old acts prohibited liquor sales within certain distances of specified schools and colleges; others added old soldiers or their widows to the Confederate pension rolls. Not a few changed names or legitimized children.

Around The World

PARIS. — (UP) — Josephine Baker sang adieu to the Paris stage last night.

Prancing with the same sexy strut she used when she made her debut 30 years ago, the Negro singing star won world applause from the theatrical and social crowd that jammed the Olympia theater's vast auditorium.

She wore a glittering white evening gown instead of a string of bananas or a feather or two which became her trade mark in Paris theaters.

For more than an hour the St. Louis, Mo., girl who created an era for Paris, sang songs that were symbolic with her in the twenties—'J'Al Deux Amours (I've Two Loves) and My Tonkinoise.

She danced the cha-cha, the tango, the mambo and the rumba with the same insolent suggestiveness she once displayed at the Folies.

There was no hint in the show of the leftwing causes she has espoused which have alienated her from many of her American countrymen.

TOKYO. — (UP) — A love-sick

The first references in the "N" section of the index are the Napoleon, the once-thriving Mississippi town which was long ago washed away by a flood. An 1846 act authorized a levee at Napoleon, an 1850 act provided for the incorporation of Napoleon and in 1858 the Legislature declared that controversial election had been legal.

A statehouse anecdote has it—although this couldn't be verified by the index—that the Legislature once passed a local act which made it illegal to "catch little catfish in Big Mulberry Creek and big catfish in Little Mulberry Creek. Both creeks are in Franklin County.

The Legislature was prohibited from passing local or special acts by a 23-word constitutional amendment adopted at the 1926 general election.

Actually acts applying only to one county are still passed sometimes and remain in effect merely because nobody challenges them in the courts.

But nobody is becoming a physician these days by legislative decree.

couple told police today they jumped into the steaming mouth of a famed suicide volcano on Oshima island because the girl was suffering from an incurable disease.

Somewhat they survived the fall down the knife-sharp lava formations that line the sides of Mt. Mihara and then discovered that they wanted to live.

Mesuk Onodera, 27, told police it took him three hours to carry his injured lover, Chieka Numakura, 21, out of the crater and its 113-degree temperature.

Stumbling over the hot rocks through swirling sulphur fumes and smoke, the couple finally pulled themselves over the lip of the crater and staggered to a nearby tea house.

The two immediately were hospitalized with severe cuts, bruises and burns.

Miss Numakura told police she was suffering from spinal tuberculosis and expected to die of the disease.

BRUNSWICK, Germany. — (UP) — A young railroad section hand confessed he derailed a local train last January to get a job as a railway policeman.

Heinz Berndt, 23, a former East German Communist Peoples policeman, said he reasoned the railroad would have to hire extra policemen to prevent further sabotage and he thought he could get off the shovel detail that way.

WHAT DO YOU MEAN, "JUST FACE LIFTING"?

EVERY NOW AND THEN, we run across someone who seems to think that 1956 cars do not offer anything really new—just a little face lifting from the year before.

We won't try to speak for the automobile industry. But we certainly can speak for Buick.

And let us announce in no uncertain terms—it's the newest thing on wheels.

The Styling is New

Sure, it looks like a Buick. But it has a new V-prowed grille that says 1956 and no mistake. The hood's new—the fender ports are new—the sweepers are new—and it all adds up to a new sweep-ahead look that ends in a sassy new slant to the rear contours.

But that, friends, is only the beginning.

The 1956 Dynaflo* is New

It introduces what the engineers call "double regeneration"—which means a double-action take-off. It gives you new, split-second response in the first inch of pedal travel—plus the "switch the pitch" at full acceleration, which no one else has yet approached.

The Ride is New

To coil springs on all four wheels, a brawny X-braced frame, and torque-tube drive, the engineers have added deep-oil shock absorbers to give new softness, new buoyancy, new comfort, and a brand-new "sense of direction" handling response.

The Power is New

All 1956 Buicks have new 322-cubic-inch V8's—with record highs in power and compression—with unique new double "Y" manifolding to step up efficiency—with new carburetor "deicing."

—and a host of other new features to make owning a Buick pure pleasure.

The Thrill is New

And the surest way for you to find out how right we are, is to sample a 1956 Buick yourself.

As we said before, this is the best Buick yet—by a wide measure—and when you learn the prices we're quoting, you'll know why this Buick is one of the three best sellers in today's market.

It takes a lot more than face lifting to produce such a winner as this.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick built today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.
